- b) Research Opportunities and Methodologies

A Brief discussion

The program was inaugurated by Dr Subhas Singha Roy under the chairmanship of Dr Ataur Rahaman.

Dr Subhas Singha Roy invited our student Anuradha Dhara for the inaugural song which was favourite song of Mahatma Gandhi (Baishanava Janato).

Principal Dr. Sk Ataur Rahman welcomed both of the resource persons by his welcome speech. He welcomed other participants from different parts of India. Indian foreign policy and the current world politics are very interesting areas to explore. He extended thanks to the department of Political Science for organizing webinars on such relevant issues. He expected that we would witness an interesting and lively discussion.

Dr. Singha Roy introduced Prof. Shibashis Chatterjee and Prof. Anindya Jyoti Majumdar respectively and invited Dr. Chatterjee to deliver his points of view first.

1) Understanding India's Foreign Policy

Our resource person Dr Shibashis Chatterjee who is currently Professor, Department of International Relations, Jadavpur University is invited to deliver a lecture on the theoretical parts of India's foreign policy.

Dr. Chatterjee started his presentation on Indian foreign policy under the system of international relations. He also discussed the various challenges and problems of Indian foreign policy and discussed the motive of foreign policy in the international system. Power relations among the state and territorial anxiety of the state, desire for acquaintance is the main motive of foreign policy in any country and under this system he also discusses the foreign policy of India and its separate identity and so on and so forth. After that he defined foreign policy along with different types, ideology, power and World order. The main problem of foreign is exceptionalism which separates the country from others.

Our other resource person Dr Anindo Jyoti Majumdar who is the Professor in the department of International Relations of Jadavpur University started his lecture on Indian foreign policy since the days of Nehru. He emphasized the issue of balance of power and partnership in foreign policy. He believed that some changes in foreign policy occurred in the new world order that are different from the old system. He recognized the role of non-state actors in the new world order and the rise of opposition forces and their hegemony, as well as the aspirations for recognition of sovereign national interests, security and development in foreign policy.

Research Opportunities and Methodologies

The national level webinar also deals with the issues of research opportunities in the field of International Relations and Political Science on this topic.

Resource persons hold the view that research opportunities on the topic of Indian Foreign policy are huge and pertinent issues can be dealt with like determinants of foreign policy, makers of Indian foreign policy, different phases of Indian foreign policy, structure and agents of formulating foreign policy etc.

Participants raised numerous questions on the topics and research related issues.

Both the resource persons answered all the queries and informed the participants about the departments and institutions where research on foreign policy can be successfully done.

Major issues covered

- Genesis of Indian Foreign Policy
- Role of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru
- Non-alignment, Bi-polar World and Indian Foreign Policy
- Globalization and Current Trends of Indian Foreign Policy
- New World Order and Indian Foreign Policy
- Research Opportunity in Indian Foreign Policy
- Research Institutions in pursuing research on Foreign Policy of India
